

xx.xx.200x

Dear Axxxxx,

Thank you for requesting a Tarot reading from me. Before I start, let me quickly explain to you how I use the Tarot. I believe that Tarot is an excellent tool for self-discovery – exploring strengths and weaknesses, opportunities and obstacles currently influencing your life. In my opinion, it is not a good idea to use it for fortune-telling, as this would deprive you of the opportunity to mould your life the way you want it to be. My aim is to offer you choices and options, empowering you to take responsibility and be in control of your life.

Your question is “What can I do to improve my life?”

In order to offer you guidance, I have shuffled my deck, the beautiful Sharman-Caselli with inspiring and gentle artwork, and pulled the card according to the number you have chosen: 21.

The following card is a special message to you from the Tarot:

The Eight of Wands

The Suit of Wands is associated with the active element Fire and represents action, initiative, enterprise, creative energy and growth. Fire also initiates intuition, imagination, vision and fantasy. The theme of the Eight of Wands is action and excitement.

This card suggests that now is the right time for you to take a new direction in your life, which should be based on enjoyment and adventure. Why not set yourself some new goals or try something new, which may give you a different and positive outlook on life and perhaps even help you overcome some fears or worries you may have been harbouring for a while.

Socialising with people, making new friends seems to be the key to a more rewarding life for you; the Eight of Wands signifies travel, an activity, which may assist you in dealing with feelings of sadness you may have. Perhaps you are now ready to take some risks and realise some ideas and dreams, which until now seemed impossible for you to even attempt to put into reality.

The Eight of Wands also suggests that perhaps you are in a position, where you need to wrap up a phase in your life such as work, home or relationship and take initiative to move forward into unknown territory. This card suggests that you are likely to have a positive and uplifting experience in the process.

Overall, the Eight of Wands encourages you to make exciting changes in your life, be pro-active and make life more adventurous for yourself. Now is not the time to leave your happiness to fate or other external forces; you have the ability and potential to seek out new opportunities to improve your life and make it happen.

I hope this reading is helpful to you. If you have any questions, please ask. I would also very much appreciate your feedback in relation to its accuracy or general thoughts on the reading.

Best regards,

Christiane

www.cosmictarot.co.uk